“That’s a Good Question...”

Semester-Long Participation Assignment

Good questions are often asked in class that push beyond the knowledge of your teacher or the class as a whole. During the semester you must pick one question that comes up through discussion or one question that relates to a current topic in class and do research outside class to answer the question. You will then report back to the class on your findings.

This should be done in a timely manner, within a day or two of the class discussion to which the question relates. Once your teacher has had a chance to look over your answer he/she will find time in class for you to present what you found. Please consider the credibility of the sources that you reference. Also, you may print out pertinent information but you must still summarize an answer in your own words.
