

Investigation Sheet
Article title and URL:
Summarize the key claims of the article.
Click to reveal the citations beneath the article. From what branches of research has data been used for the article (e.g. medicine, psychology, neuroscience, political science)?
Choose one of the cited articles that is from a scientific journal (rather than a book or a newspaper) and search for it online. Read the abstract (a brief summary of a research article) and, if possible, the introduction and conclusion of the article. Summarize its findings and comment on whether you think it was used accurately in the first article you read.	